

CHAPTER 2: INTRODUCTION & PLANNING CONTEXT

A. Introduction

The Town of Cary Parks, Recreation & Cultural Resources (PRCR) Master Plan provides a vision for the shaping of parks and recreational opportunities in Cary in the next two decades, with a focus on recommendations for the first 10 years. This plan is the culmination of public input, a needs assessment, and sound planning practices. The intent of this plan is to serve as a guide for parks, recreation, and cultural resource service delivery for the future.

The Town's nationally accredited Parks, Recreation and Cultural Resources Department oversees an expansive parks and recreation system that is recognized within the region as setting the benchmark for providing leisure services. This plan outlines a proactive set of recommendations to guide the Town of Cary to ensure a high quality parks, recreation, and cultural resources system now and into the future.

B. Accomplishments

The Town's strong commitment to parks and recreation is demonstrated in the many accomplishments since the 2003 Cary Parks, Recreation and Cultural Resources Facilities Master Plan.

- Greenways – 50 miles, eight grade-separated crossings

This is an impressive list of accomplishments and is testament to the dedication of Town leaders, residents, and staff to advancing a comprehensive, high quality parks and recreation system.
